What is the Reiseanalyse?

The Reiseanalyse (RA) is a national survey which records and describes the holiday travel behaviour of the German-speaking population resident in Germany. It has continuously been carried out since 1970 with the same subject matter and methodological consistency – longer than any other survey in social sciences and market research worldwide.

What is surveyed?

The survey enquires information on holiday trips of five days or more and short breaks of two to four days. Key elements of the Reiseanalyse include a description of holiday and travel behaviour, as well as the assessment of holiday motivations and interests. The future potential of destinations, types of holiday and holiday activities are also covered. Extensive time series allow a detailed analysis of short and long-term market trends.

What are the results useful for?

- » Target group segmentation
- » Assessment of potential
- » Benchmarking
- » Planning of advertising
- » Efficiency analyses
- » Motivation research
- » Time series analyses
- » Image studies
- » Volume assessment

Content of the Reiseanalyse

How is the survey conducted?

Within the scope of the Reiseanalyse, more than 12,000 interviews are conducted in Germany. Of these 7,000 are face-to-face interviews (1 hour duration, computer-assisted) and additional 5,000 are conducted online. The survey focuses on holiday trips with at least one overnight stay, with a distinction between holiday trips of five days or more and short breaks of two to four days.

The results are representative of the German-speaking population aged 14 years or older. For details of the survey structure and all topics covered in the RA 2025, visit www.reiseanalyse.de

The FUR does not make any profit. All surpluses are entirely reinvested into research and the further development of the survey. The FUR publishes selected results for a wider audience (e. g. Reiseanalyse holiday trend study 2030). A team of three partners implements the Reiseanalyse: the FUR together with the NIT (Institute for Tourism Research in Northern Europe) is responsible for organisational and scientific aspects of the survey. IPSOS is responsible for field work and data processing.
