What is the Reiseanalyse?

The Reiseanalyse is a national survey which records and describes the holiday travel behaviour of the German-speaking population resident in Germany. In 2020, the survey will be carried out for the 50th year in a row with the same thematic and methodological approach - as long as no other survey in social and market research worldwide.

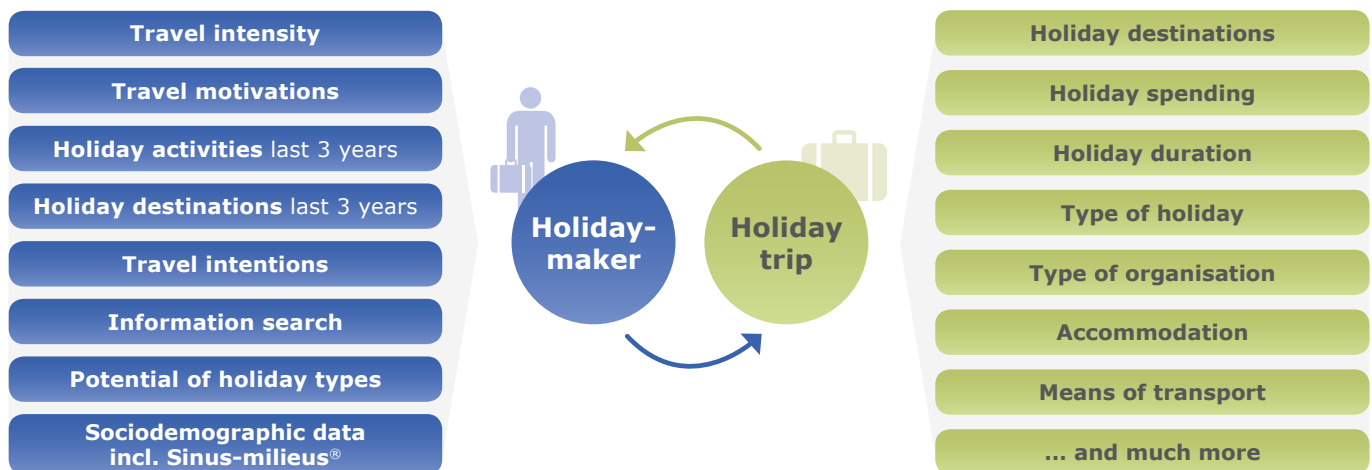

What is surveyed?

The survey concentrates on holiday trips of five days or more and short breaks of two to four days. Key elements of the Reiseanalyse include a description of holiday and travel behaviour, as well as the assessment of holiday motivations and interests. The future potential of destinations, types of holiday and holiday activities are also covered by survey questions.

What can I use the results for?

Target group segmentation	Planning of advertising	Time series analyses

How is the survey conducted?

Within the scope of the Reiseanalyse, more than 12,000 interviews are conducted in Germany. Of these, 7,500 are face-to-face interviews lasting around one hour and additional 5,000 online. The survey focuses on holiday trips with at least one overnight stay. A distinction is made between holiday trips of five days or more and short breaks of two to four days. The results are representative of the German-speaking population. For details of the survey structure and all topics covered in the RA 2020, visit www.reiseanalyse.de.

Who is responsible for the Reiseanalyse?

The RA is carried out by the FUR (Forschungsgemeinschaft Urlaub und Reisen e.V.), an independent association and the biggest non-profit organisation commissioning tourism research in Germany. The FUR does not make any profit. All surpluses are reinvested in full into research and the further development of the survey. The FUR publishes selected results for a wider audience (e. g. German Holiday Trends 2025).

A team of three partners implements the Reiseanalyse: the FUR together with the NIT (Institute for Tourism Research in Northern Europe) are responsible for organisational and scientific aspects of the survey. IPSOS is responsible for field work and data processing.
